

Aldham

Parish Code: E04009065

Area Summary

Aldham is a village and civil parish in Babergh that sits 8 miles west of Ipswich and around 12 miles east of Sudbury. Just to the south of the village is the larger settlement of Hadleigh.

The majority of the village can be found along Aldham Street that passes from east to west through the parish.

The parish retains its round-towered church of St Mary which is set away from the main road. The building was made famous after it featured prominently in the BBC drama The Detectorists in 2015 which starred Mackenzie Crook and Toby Jones.

The larger village of Elmsett sits to the north of Aldham. The two parishes share a village hall (which is located in Elmsett) and Elmsett Airfield sits on the border between the two.

In the south of Aldham is Wolves Wood which is managed by the RSPB.
