

Earl Soham

Parish Code: E04009400

Area Summary

Earl Soham is a reasonably sized village that sits west of Framlingham along the A1120 in Suffolk Coastal. The majority of the residential and business properties sit along the main road with farmland to the north and south.

The village contains more community assets than you might expect from a settlement of this size. The area retains a primary school, village hall, GP surgery and a village pub.

Earl Soham has a significant culinary pedigree with a high concentration of renowned food and drink producers. The village has its own micro-brewery that supplies the local pub which is just down the road from a local butchers and café. The business park just outside the village hosts a coffee company and the nationally recognised Scarlett and Mustard dressings company.

The parish church is situated on the main road and is one of many historical buildings in Earl Soham's conservation area.
